General School Updates

School Band Concert - Friday, March 1

Our school band will be playing at Minnesota Valley Lutheran High School on Saturday, March 2nd for their annual Band Festival. The day before, Friday, March 1st, the band will be playing their group and individual pieces for the student body and any parents who would like to join us after chapel at 8:30 A.M. Come and join us to hear the results of all their hard work!

Final Science Fair Project Due - Thursday, February 28

The students in grades 5-8 have been working very hard on their individual science fair projects during the past weeks. The final step of the project, the display board, is due on Thursday, February 28th. We will be displaying the completed projects shortly after in our church commons area so that they are visible during our Lutheran Education Week from March 4-10. We look forward to seeing all the results of the students' hard work!

Kindergarten Round Up - Monday, March 4th

On Monday, March 4th we will be hosting our annual Kindergarten Round Up from 6-7 P.M. Any students that have already enrolled or are considering enrollment in our kindergarten program for the upcoming 2019-2020 school year are invited to come and spend some time in our K-2 classroom, talk with Miss Yotter, do some fun activities, and ask any questions about next school year. This event will be going on simultaneously with our monthly Messy Monday event. Families are encouraged to participate in both!

K-2 Classroom Updates

We are excited to play in the new snow, but we also hope that we can get back into a routine and be able to stay in that routine for a whole week! In science this week, we have been learning about gravity. Miss Cody had us try some experiments to help us learn more about how gravity works. We also are finishing up our unit on measurement and are digging into writing fiction stories. We are also starting to learn our song that we will sing with the whole school on March 10th.

3-5 Classroom Updates

Grades 3-5 enjoyed their second sled day on Tuesday. The air was cold, but there's plenty of snow. Some of our students took online spelling tests on their snow day off. Thanks to those who did! Teachers are investigating new ways to continue learning at home when weather events prevent us from coming to school.

Meanwhile, we continue to work on our mid-winter learning. Third graders are doing almost all their schoolwork in cursive. We are practicing descriptive writing in most of our classes. On Friday we began making papel picado decorations for the community multi-cultural festival to be held in April.

6-8 Classroom Updates

We, once again, had a week interrupted by a snow day. Despite the snow days scattered throughout our school weeks over the last few weeks, we have been able to keep moving along in all of our subjects and make some good progress. Thanks to the students for coming in with willing attitudes to work even when we have had some strange schedules!

We finished our biography about Abraham Lincoln in reading classes this past week. We started our new novel Walk Two Moons by Sharon Creech. This book features the quote, "Don't judge a man until you've walked two moons in his moccasins," on the front cover. We will spend some time talking about what this means as the book progresses. We also will attempt to use God's Word to add additional meaning on to what this quote is trying to say. It should be an interesting novel!
