General School Updates

School Photos Taken - Retake Day is Tuesday, November 19

School Pictures have arrived! Even those who did not order photos should have received a small photo sample from which additional pictures can still be ordered online at a later time. Any families dissatisfied with their child's picture will have the opportunity to have the picture retaken on Tuesday, November 19th. Let us know if you would like a retake as soon as possible so that we can plan to have the photographer come in again on that day.

Parent/Teacher Conferences

With the 1st quarter ending this week, we have scheduled our annual parent/teacher conferences that take place at the end of the first quarter. The main purpose of these conferences will be for parents to discuss with the teachers each child's school progress through the first quarter of the year, ask any questions, and share any concerns. If you haven't already, please make arrangements with your child's teacher to come in for a quick meeting next week. Your child's teacher should have sent out a schedule of meeting days and times. Please contact your child's teacher if your meeting time does not work to reschedule for a different time.

No School - Friday, November 8th

Due to a one day teachers' conference that our teaching staff will be attending at Martin Luther College, there will be no school on Friday, November 8th. We hope families are able to enjoy some extra time at home together!

K-2 Classroom Updates

We have reached the end of first quarter! It is amazing how fast the first two months have flown by. We are learning so much and there is so much more to learn! In math, kindergarten is working hard on counting to 100, but especially knowing, reading, and writing numbers to 20. First and second grade are both in the midst of learning about subtraction with second grade focusing on double-digit subtraction. In science, we have been learning lots about animals including what camouflage and mimicry means. Ask a K-2 student the next time you see them :) Next week will be Mrs. Voss's last week with us. We are very thankful for her hard work and dedication and will miss her a lot, but we are looking forward to seeing what God has in store for her.

3-5 Classroom Updates

We have enjoyed another short week of school. Fifth graders have worked faithfully and enthusiastically on their reading projects. Third and fourth graders are understanding characters' motivations in The Chocolate Touch. Our math and grammar skills are building day by day. We are all starting another writing unit in English. It's always fun to see which new words we learn each day. November is already here, and holiday preparations will soon begin. There is a lot to be thankful for!

6-8 Classroom Updates

This next week is our student teacher's last week with us! We have really enjoyed getting to know Mrs. Routhieaux over these past 10 weeks. As part of the student teaching plan, she taught all of our subjects these past two weeks. As we prepare for her time with us to end, Mr. Gurgel will be slowly picking up the school subjects from her again as her time with us winds down next week. We pray the last year at Martin Luther College for Mrs. Routhieaux is a blessing to her. We are excited to see where she ends up teaching full time following her graduation this spring! Please keep her in your prayers and wish her God's blessings if you see her during her last week with us!

We have been enjoying reading our longest novel of the year titled, Counting by 7's. We will be wrapping up that novel next week. Many of our students have mentioned that this was the longest book they ever read! We hope it gives everyone the confidence to read more longer novels on their own in the future!
